In return for access to the ONETWO code, I agree to the following:

I will not modify the ONETWO source code without permission from the developer, Holger St. John.

I understand that ONETWO is an evolving code and that as new versions are released, that results obtained from the code may vary from results obtained using previous versions. To help prevent misinterpretation of ONETWO results, I will check with the developer before publishing results obtained using ONETWO, and if requested provide the developer or designate the opportunity for a courtesy review of the publication.
